Tragedy strikes local family

Two four-year-olds die in mobile home fire

Tragedy struck a local family over the week-end when two four-year-olds were killed in a mobile home fire.

Juan Oseguera and his family celebrated a birthday on Saturday afternoon at their home on Short Street in Russell Springs. Hector Curry, 4, stayed after the party and was playing in the rear bedroom of the mobile home with Oseguera's four-year-old son Hayden Oseguera-Paxtian when the fire occurred.

A fuse box in the room where Hayden and Hector were playing apparently caught fire just after 9 p.m. Family and friends were unable to enter the room where Hayden and Hector were located.

The Oseguera family, neighbors, firefighters, police officers and sheriff deputies tried getting into the room but were too late.

Hayden and Hector both died due to smoke inhalation, according to a preliminary autopsy report. The cause of the fire was reported as electrical.

Hayden was the son of Juan Matias Oseguera-Mandujano and Maria C. Paxtian-Fiscal of Russell Springs.

"Hector was so energetic, always had a smile on his face."

Instructional Assistant BJ Kinnett

Hector was the son of Randy Curry and Rosa Lopez, of Columbia.

Curry was a preschool student at Adair County Elementary School and had only recently begun the program.

ACES Principal Robbie Harmon said the entire school is heartbroken.

"From the ACES Family we would just like to say that our hearts are broken with this tragedy," Harmon said. "Our thoughts and prayers now go

Hospital tax recall petition is successful

A petition to recall a proposed hospital tax received enough signatures to put the tax on hold until at least 2014.

County Clerk Sheila Blair finished certifying the petition Tuesday afternoon, reporting that 780 signatures were accepted. Petitioners needed 755 qualified signatures to stop the proposed tax until it can be put on the ballot for voters to decide whether it should be approved.

Court sets tax rate, approves others

The fiscal court has approved a tax rate to generate the same revenue as last year. While the court had the option to increase the rate by 4 percent without a recall, members made a commitment to operate at the current financial level and approved the compensating rate.

The court held a special called meeting last

LWC freshman dies in car accident

Less than a month after the fall semester at Lindsey Wilson College began, the school is mourning the loss of one of its freshmen students.

Caleb Capps, 18, of Edmonton, was killed in a car accident last week in Knifley.

Capps had only been at Lindsey for a short time but he had already made a big impression.

Caleb's resident assistant Charlie Gibson said while Capps was a very outgoing student, the qualities that stuck out the most was his honesty and respect.

"One night, he broke curfew," Gibson said. "As his RA, I had to say something to him about it, but before I had a chance to, he came up to me and said, 'I'm sorry. I know what I did was wrong, and I'm here to accept my punishment.' That really surprised me, caught me off guard. Nobody ever

EMS director honored at retirement reception

Terry Akin is known for encouraging people to leave a place better than it was when they got there.

He has achieved that and more as director of the Adair County Ambulance Service.

Akin just retired after 37 years at Adair County EMS. His family, co-workers and friends joined together Sunday to honor him and have a few laughs at his expense during a retirement reception.

Co-workers expressed their respect for the leadership Akin has provided as manager of the ambulance service for the past 15 years. Office manager Valeria Bault said Akin allowed employees to put family first but also ran a tight ship.

Calling him "conservative," Bault reminisced about Akin's fiscal restraint. He keeps the temperature in the bay where ambulances are parked at 55 degrees during

Animal shelter will require spay, neutering before adoption

Anyone wishing to adopt a pet from the local animal shelter will soon be required to have the animal spayed or neutered before taking it home.

The fiscal court voted Tuesday night to establish the new policy at the request of the Green River Animal Welfare League.

The court originally heard the request last month but tabled any decision until local veterinarians could be polled to see what they would charge for spay and neutering services. Three veterinarians responded and magistrates were given their offers without the name of the animal clinic being identified.

Magistrates vote to tentatively accept an offer that included $62 to spay or $45 to neuter a dog and $45 to spay or $25 to neuter a cat.

The court discussed a request to discount its current adoption fee but noted that the county is already contributing money to operate the shelter.

The adoption fees are currently $50 for dogs and $30 for cats. That fee will be added to the spay and neuter fees, which means a female dog will cost $112 to adopt, a male dog will cost $95, a female cat will cost $75 and a male cat will cost $55 to adopt.

The county will now finalize an agreement with the veterinarian and County Judge Executive Ann Melton said the new policy would take place sometime after Oct. 15.

Shelter manager Sandy Ford voiced concern that adoptions numbers would drop if fees exceeded $100.

to Hector's father and mother, family and friends."

B.J. Kinnett, an instructional assistant in Joyce Nuckolls' preschool classroom, said Hector was a sweet boy.

"Hector was so energetic, always had a smile on his face and was always ready for some fun," Kinnett said. "His smile was amazing."

Harmon said parents could contact the school if they would like the staff to talk with a student.

"The death of a student is never easy and it is especially hard on the classmates and peers," Harmon said in a letter to parents. "We will do anything in our power to help students grieve and help them through this difficult time. Hector will be missed dearly and will always hold a special place in our hearts."

Funeral services were held yesterday for both Hayden and Hector at the high school gymnasium. School was also dismissed for the day in honor of both children.

"Any time we lose a student, it is always a very emotional time for students and faculty," said Superintendent Alan Reed. "The situation surrounding the deaths of Hector and Hayden is particularly upsetting, and all of Adair County grieves for the boys and their families. I join Mr. Harmon along with the faculty and students at ACES who are among some of the most impacted."

Always in our hearts... Hector Aaron Curry, our preschool buddy!

Our Little Buddy

He came to us on a Tuesday morning,
His eyes so bright and his brain so open.

He's going to learn his ABC's,
And how to count... 1, 2, 3.

He melted hearts with his big ole smile,
How we wish we could have kept him for more than awhile.

He left us on a September day,
While he and a friend were hard at play.
When we look to the sky on a moon lit night,
A star will shine just a little more bright.

We will look and say to ourselves,
I do believe it's our little buddy.

the winter and tells employees to only run the dishwasher when it is full. She laughed as she told how she couldn't figure out why her calculator kept turning off until she saw Akin push the button one day, then he explained he was saving electricity.

"He's a good man and he served his county well," she said.

Indeed he has. Under his guidance, the ambulance service has remained financially sound as it increased its level of professionalism, now providing advanced life support services and maintaining "great trucks," as described by assistant director David Taylor.

It was Taylor who pointed out that Akin told him to leave a place better than it was before he got there. Taylor also presented a road sign to Akin after describing how Akin has a tendency to say there are two ways to do something, "the wrong way and Terry's way."

The "Terry's Way" sign is going up this week at the entrance of the EMS building on Westlake Drive.

Akin, or nine o two to his co-workers, received a shadow box encasing his badge and nameplate, a plaque and a number of gifts during the reception.

Akin said he is fortunate to be able to have the job he has had, to have his family and his health. He said he is confident he is leaving the ambulance service in good hands.

"I don't have any doubt in my mind that we're in good shape," he said.

City approves tax hike

The city of Columbia has approved a 4 percent tax increase.

One public hearing and two special called meetings were held as part of the process to approve the new rate.

No comments were presented from the public during the hearing. On Tuesday, the council held its final special called meeting and unanimously approved the new rate. Council member Tony Grider was not present for the meeting.

The increase is the highest a local government entity can propose without being subject to a recall.

The 2011 tax rate was .2542 (25.42 cents per $100 assessment), which produced revenue of $439,659. The new rate for 2012 is .2625, which will produce revenue of $453,718.

Revenue from new property and personal property at .2625 will generate $88,000.

Council members Craig Dean, Linda Waggener, Robert Flowers, June Parson and Jim Hadley were present for Tuesday’s special called meeting. Approving the second reading of the tax rate was the only item on the agenda.

Wednesday to consider tax rates. It also approved rates for special districts with the exception of the hospital district, which was held over until this week’s regular meeting.

All taxing districts except the school district either kept the same rate as last year or approved the compensating rate, which is determined by a formula to generate the same revenue as the previous year. Revenue fluctuates based on property values.

The library, public health and ambulance districts all kept the same rate as the previous year. The extension and soil conservation districts approved the compensating rate.

Only the school district approved a rate over the compensating rate, which required public notices and a public hearing. The district approved a 4 percent increase.

No action taken on courthouse sixes issue

In August, the animal shelter took in 95 animals, adopted seven, sent 12 to rescues, and euthanized 77. In July, the shelter took in 129 cats and dogs. Nine were adopted and 11 rescued, with 122 being euthanized.

NO ACTION TAKEN ON COURTHOUSE SIXES

Pastor Troy Strange returned for the second time in two months to the fiscal court meeting to see if wrought iron on top of the courthouse could be removed.

The railing has long been the topic of conversation because it appears to be what some people believe are three subsequent sixes on each side of the courthouse, a number that represents evil.

Strange said God has placed it on his heart to get the railing removed.

“You can’t prove it’s not sixes and I can’t prove they are,” he said.

Members of a local heritage association warn that changes can’t take place to the historic courthouse without approval from the Historic Registry, where the building is listed.

Several magistrates stated they do not believe the railing looks like sixes. Judge Melton agreed but said she if the majority of the people in the county are offended by the wrought iron the court should consider its options. She encouraged people to let their magistrates know how they feel about the issue.

Melton also plans to talk with officials with the Historic Registry to see if the railing could be changed. If changes are made to the courthouse without prior approval the county could be required to refund a previous grant used to make improvements to the courthouse.

COURT REFUSES BUDGET CHANGE FOR COUNTY CLERK

County Clerk Sheila Blair asked the court to approve budget transfers that would allow her to increase funds for part-time help.

Blair asked to move the funds from areas within her own budget, such as travel expense, but magistrates voted five to two against the proposal.

Blair was asked several questions about her part-time workers and overtime, and how her staff funds are determined. Blair was asking for enough funds to use each of her three part-time employees one day a week. In addition, she said she was over budget for part time help for $1940 through August.

The court voted against the motion to transfer the requested funds. Magistrates Daryl Flatt, Billy Coffey, Joe Rogers, Billy Rowe and Harold Burton voted no. Sammy Baker and Perry Reeder voted yes.

The court then approved a motion to allow Blair to transfer enough to cover the part time already spent. The $1940 will be moved from travel expenses into salaries.

Also during Tuesday night’s court meeting, magistrates voted to move Charlie Crawhorn to director at parks and recreation and to hire Ricky Roy part time at $8 an hour.

Judge Melton told magistrates that land from Lynn McLean that had been deeded to the state for a right-of-way then to the county had been deeded incorrectly and the state had ended up with more property than it was supposed to. The court voted to deed the property back to the state so that the state could correct the error.

ELECT JUDY VANCE CIRCUIT JUDGE

To the voters of Adair County,

As election time draws near, I wanted to take the opportunity to introduce myself and my family to all of you. I am a candidate for Circuit Judge in Adair and Casey counties, which is on the ballot this November.

I am an Adair County native, and a graduate of Adair County High School and Lindsey Wilson College. Upon graduation from law school, I returned home to Adair County to work and raise my family. Being raised on a farm in Glensfork myself, I knew that I wanted my children to grow up in a similar environment, enjoying life in the country and growing up in a small town.

Patrick and I have been married for 17 years, and we have been blessed with three daughters. Courtney is 9 years old and is in the fourth grade at John Adair Intermediate School. Kaylee is 4 years old and is in preschool at Colonel William Casey Elementary. Chloe has just celebrated her second birthday.

Patrick and I are active members of the Glensfork United Methodist Church.

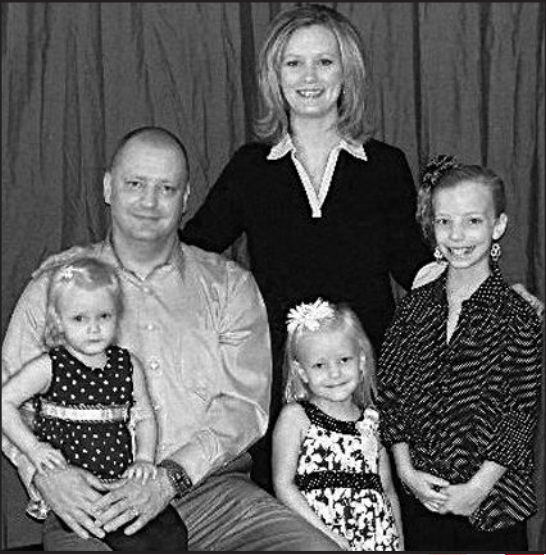

Upon graduation from law school, I fortunately had the opportunity to work as a law clerk with our late Circuit Judge, James G. Weddle. Through this experience, I learned about the legal system from a judge’s perspective, taking note of the fact that each case is unique and deserving of the court’s time.

I next worked as the Assistant Commonwealth’s Attorney for Adair and Casey Counties, prosecuting felony cases and presenting cases to the grand jury. I quickly learned the nobility of a prosecutor’s position, through seeking justice for victims of crime and helping to keep our community safe.

After four years at the Commonwealth’s Attorney’s office, I decided to go into private practice, and I am now in my seventh year of doing that. During this time, I have handled many different types of cases, including divorce, custody, criminal defense, civil litigation, bankruptcy, debt collection, personal injury, and land disputes. I have also spent a countless number of hours serving as an advocate for children in neglect and abuse cases in our court system.

As the November election approaches, I will be meeting with many of you to personally ask for your vote. However, with two counties to cover, it will not be possible for me to see everyone. When you go vote, I am asking you to consider my experience with all types of cases that come before the Circuit Court, my commitment to preserving family values, and my desire to serve the people of Adair County and Casey County by providing a fair and impartial courtroom. Thank you for your time and consideration.

A time to mourn

This week has been a tragic one for members of our community. Together we mourn the loss of a young college freshman and two four-year-old boys.

Life was cut short for 18-year-old Caleb Capps, a freshman at Lindsey Wilson College last week when he suffered fatal injuries in an automobile accident.

Over the weekend, Hector Aaron Curry, a pre-school student at Adair County Elementary School, and Hayden Aaron Oseguera-Paxtian, both only four years old, died in a mobile home fire in Russell Springs.

Tragedies like these affect a whole community, but for the most part we can only imagine the pain the families must feel. Our prayers go out to those families and close friends as they suffer the loss of these young lives.

Terry Akin sets high standard

A wonderful reception was held Sunday for Terry Akin, who retired after 37 years of service at the ambulance district.

Akin's co-workers voiced their respect for him and took the opportunity to show the humor that comes with such a stressful job.

Akin took some jabs about his love for the Andy Griffith show and a few phrases he is known to say.

For instance, if Akin thinks he needs to drive home a point, he will say in a slow, drawn-out way, "helllllooooo, ding, ding."

That means, "think before you do something," Akin pointed out at the reception.

Another famous Terry Akin quote is, "What I'm trying to say is..." then he says what he is trying to say, or at least he tries to.

While co-workers and friends had some fun at Terry's expense, they also recognized something the whole community should recognize. Office manager Valeria Bault called it Akin's "conservative" nature. I think it would be more appropriate to call him a tightwad.

And I consider that a huge compliment.

Akin has been tight with the public's money, and that's a standard I'd love to see more often in public service. As the economy has slowed and tax dollars are harder to come by, everyone in government is tightening the belt. The ambulance service belt was never loose, at least not under the watchful eye of Terry Akin.

In fact, the only criticism I've heard about the ambulance service's finances came because they were continually having more than $1 million in carry-over revenue from year to year.

Funny how that turned out to be a good thing when the economy went sour.

There is absolutely nothing wrong with being a penny pincher unless you are sacrificing quality at the same time. Obviously that has never been the case at EMS. Our ambulance service is something to be proud of, providing advanced life support through teams of professional paramedics and EMTs.

Richard Walker quipped recently at a meeting about the hospital that he recalls establishing the ambulance service as a taxing district while he was county judge. Walker said he was not apologizing for that decision, and rightly so.

There's a reason he can still be proud of that choice, and it has a whole lot to do with the management of Terry Akin. It's easy to be proud of a taxing district that has been operated properly. Our ambulance service has been able to save lives and do its job with a responsible budget.

In his honor, well, what I'm trying to say is... Akin has set a standard for fiscal responsibility through good times and hard times. Our community owes him a special thank you for his service.

Buzz Around Town

By Mindy Yarberry

I love to hear my children tell me what they want to be when they grow up. Macy wants to help animals. Cy has wanted to be a firefighter, a scientist, a zookeeper, and a teacher. I think he could be a great lawyer because he can argue his point with the best of them. I admire that he has said that he would like to teach because you have to have a real talent to be a teacher. I am amazed at the things he already knows and he is just in second grade. Teachers don't stop working after the school day is over. Many stay late to prepare their classroom for days to come, and help with other school activities like sports, band and academic teams. Thank you Adair County teachers for preparing students for the future. I asked these four Col. Wm. Casey second grade students in Marsha Hixson's classroom this question, "If you could be a teacher for the day, what would you do?"

Kalli Bailey

"I would make the students do work and then give them a break."

Rylee Helm

"I would make them do science and then play on the playground."

Skylar Flippo

"I would make the students take lots of tests."

Shyanne Minshall

"I would let the kids play on the playground all day."

Indians dominate Breckinridge, 49-0

The Adair County Indians football team has been rolling on both offense and defense of late. With a 49-0 win over Breckinridge County last week, Adair has scored 48 or more points and their varsity defense has not allowed a single score in the last three games.

“Our line has been getting to our assignments a lot better as far as getting to the blocks and sustaining them,” Bryant said. “We’re not perfect at what we do, but we are getting better. At the beginning of the year, we weren’t too bad at getting to blocks, but we

Against Breckinridge, Adair's offense was led by junior quarterback Jake Hixson and senior running back Derek Grant. Grant rushed for 130 yards and two touchdowns on 10 attempts and also recorded two receptions for 35 yards and a touchdown.

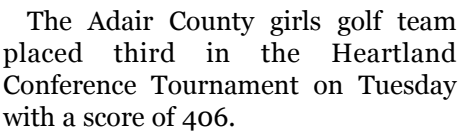

Adair's defense was led by two interceptions, one each from seniors Alex Nickerson and Emory

Even Adair's special teams unit was impressive last Friday. Nickerson, Adair's kickoff specialist, had four touchbacks for the game, forcing Breckinridge to start on their own 20-yard line.

Adair's next game is this Friday night, when they will travel to Hart County to play the 2-2 Raiders.

Ashley Goodin earned the honors of fourth place in the Heartland Conference Tournament Champion with a score of 81.

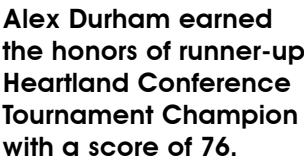

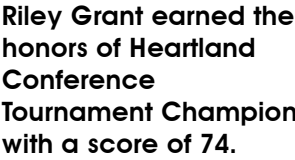

Adair County's Ashley Goodin placed fourth overall with a score of 81 and made the All Heartland Team. Other scores include Rachel Phipps with 102, Abby Royse with 109 and Hailey Taylor with 114.

The Adair County boys golf team were runners-up in the Heartland Conference Tournament this week.

Riley Grant earned the conference champ honors with a score of 74. Alex Durham took home runner-up honors with a score of 76. Other scores include Daniel Rarey with 80, Trey Garmon with 83 and Korey Hundley with 93.

"We came up one shot short today," said head coach Steve Burton. "Riley was terrific today and Alex played solidly but we were not able to put four scores in the 70s. In order to beat quality teams, you have to be able to play in the 70s as a team and we were not able to do that today. Our kids battled to the very end. We just didn't play our best golf today and it cost us."

LWC volleyball extends winning streak

Doyle was unstoppable on the attack. The Murrietta, Calif., native posted 17 kills on 19 swings for a .842 hitting percentage that helped the Blue Raiders shutout the visiting Patriots.

While Doyle's performance stole the show, she wasn't alone in her dominance.

respectively, while Kailey Moorhead posted seven and Ashlie Haworth came off the bench for five.

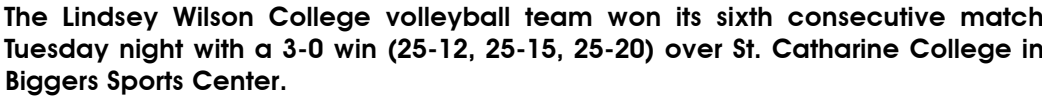

Most of those kills started with the combination of Kristi Hager picking up a match-high 12 digs and setter Andrea Taylor dish-ing out a match-high 44 assists.

On the visiting side, it was Casey Stone and Rebecca Just with the big nights, tallying nine kills each, while setter Chelsea

The first two sets were a breeze for the Blue Raiders, leading by as many as 13 points in the opening set and 10 in the second. St. Catharine did get within a point at 20-19 in the third set, but Lindsey Wilson outscored it 5-1 to claim the 25-20 win in the finale.

On a night when so many things went right, the one flaw in the Blue Raiders' game came on serve where they had eight errors with just two aces. St. Catharine served for three aces and had just two errors.

Lindsey Wilson takes a week break from play before resuming at Cumberland (Tenn.) at 6 p.m. on Sept. 18 in Lebanon, Tenn.

Governor declares Adair ‘Work Ready Community in Progress’

Gov. Steve Beshear announced that Adair County has been certified as a “Work Ready Community in Progress.”

The new Work Ready Communities Certification program is set up through the Kentucky Workforce Investment Board and the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

School Superintendent and chairman of the Work Ready Community committee Alan Reed said the certification proves that a county can produce workers who possess the skills that will enable employers to be successful if they were to locate here.

“It is an economic development concept,” Reed said.

Adair County is close to meeting the requirements for the full Work Ready Community certification.

“We are excited that Adair County has achieved Work Ready Community in Progress status and we look forward to certifying many others in the future. Work Ready Community in Progress status is not an easy accomplishment. Adair County leaders are to be commended for working together to achieve this goal,” said Crystal Gibson, chair of the Kentucky Work Ready Communities review panel and vice president of communications and public affairs at Citigroup.

Adair County’s leaders congratulated the Economic Development Authority on all of their hard work.

“I am extremely happy that the Columbia-Adair County Economic Development Authority took the initiative to do this project,” said Judge Executive Ann Melton. “It required a lot of hard work, was very time consuming and I commend them on their efforts. This designation is a beginning which shows that our community is committed to prepare our workforce for the jobs of today and to have skilled workers for the jobs in the future.”

“Congratulations to the local Economic Development Authority on working to achieve the Work Ready Community in Progress Award,” said Mayor Mark Harris. “It’s a beginning to aid in impacting the quality of life and sustainability for future generations. We must continue to work on becoming a Certified Work Ready Community.”

In order to receive full certification, a county must present a viable plan to meet all of the criteria within three years. The designation shows that a community is making strides and working with its business, education, workforce and economic development leaders to set and meet common goals that will give the county an economic edge.

“Adair County is a role model for other communities that want to demonstrate a commitment to reaching education, workforce and economic development goals that make their communities a desirable place for business,” said Joseph U. Meyer, Secretary of the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

Superintendent Reed said he has hopes to incorporate a ‘Work Ready Seal’ for students to have placed on their diplomas when they graduate.

A student would only be eligible for the seal if he or she exhibited basic soft skills such as showing initiative, attendance, courtesy, ability to work in teams, work ethic and more.

For more information about the Work Ready Communities program, go to the website <http://kwib.kygov/workreadycommunity.htm>.

Hospital tax recall petition is successful

Blair said a number of signatures were disqualified for various reasons. Some signers put the date they signed the petition where their birth date was supposed to go. In some cases, signers put a post office box address when a physical street address is required.

Others were disqualified because it was apparent one person signed their own signature and that of their spouse. Blair said she only accepted one signature in those cases.

Even so, the certified signatures are enough to recall the proposed 3.7 cents tax. Blair said there is now a 10-day period for anyone who wants to challenge the certification.

The successful recall postpones the tax until the next general election. The tax was not proposed early enough to be placed on the ballot this November, so it will now be on hold until the November 2014 general election. There are no elections in 2013.

Five people were injured during a three-vehicle accident on Campbellsville Road in Columbia Saturday.

Five injured in accident on Hwy. 55

Five people were sent to the hospital after a three-vehicle wreck Saturday on Campbellsville Street. Rodolfo Escobar, 50, of Columbia, was traveling north in a 1989 Ford Ranger when he apparently came upon a stopped vehicle and was unable to stop. Escobar's vehicle struck a 2003 Kia Rio driven by Benjamin Kaylar, 44, of Columbia. Kaylar's vehicle was then forced into a 2008 Nissan Altima driven by Sonia Helm, 36, of Columbia, who was waiting to turn left into Gate at 1125 Campbellsville Rd. Escobar, Kaylar, Helm, a passenger in the Kaylar vehicle and a passenger in the Helm vehicle were all transported to Westlake Regional Hospital by Adair EMS. A wet roadway was considered a factor in the accident. The accident occurred around 11 a.m. and was investigated by Columbia Police Officer Drew Conn.

Keeping dairy rations balanced will be a challenge

Nick Roy
Adair County Extension Agent for Agriculture and Natural Resources

Most years, when a dairy producer has their ration balanced for the new corn silage crop, very few and minor adjustments are then made throughout the winter to ensure the proper nutrient levels are being provided to meet production goals. Normally the most often tweak that must be made is due to variations of dry matter percentage of the different fields harvested. This year's silage crop brought mixed results, early planted corn that developed very poor and in some case no ears while later planted corn developed good ears with short stalks. This has translated into local corn silage sample testing from 6 percent to 12 percent crude protein and net energy lactation levels ranging from .49 to .75 Mcal/Lb. The best strategy to deal with this year's corn silage will be to test and test often. As different fields are fed and in some cases different parts of the field are fed, nutrient levels provided will be variable. Keep a close eye for key indicators that the corn silage quality may be changing. A reduction or increase in MUN (milk urea nitrogen) levels indicate either a change in protein levels or energy levels.

Reduced intakes will generally be a result of feeding dryer corn silage or an increase in fiber levels. Increased intakes will be seen when the corn silage becomes higher in moisture or fiber levels drop. Take note of any of the occurrences and communicate them to your nutritionist. Free forage testing and ration balancing services are provided through the Adair County Cooperative Extension for any farmer who would like assistance. For more information, call the Extension Office at 384-2317.

CHAPTER ONE

“Well, Woody, it looks as if all your numbers are higher than last year,” the doctor said as he went over my test results. “That’s awesome!” I exclaimed, puffing out my chest. Doc Albert chuckled before she spoke. “Actually Woody, it’s not like exams in school where higher numbers mean better grades. With medical exams, higher numbers aren’t usually a good thing.” “I don’t understand,” I said, looking back and forth from my parents to the doctor. “Well, your blood sugar, your cholesterol and your weight are all higher than they were last year. Those three things tell me you aren’t eating right or exercising enough. And for you to be healthy, that has to change.” I felt a tear come to my eye, but I didn’t want to cry in front of my parents, my sister or the vet, so I played it cool. “I must have allergies too,” I said, wiping my eyes and drying my sniffles. “It’s not the end of the world, and you’re certainly not in trouble, Woody,” Doc Albert assured me. “It is a wake-up call. It’s your body telling you to treat it better.” “What did you score on your tests, Chloe?” I asked my sister. Doc Albert answered for her. “Though Chloe hasn’t gained any weight, her cholesterol and her blood sugar were also a tiny bit higher than last year.” “What is co, co,” “Cholesterol,” Doc Albert said, trying to help Chloe pronounce the difficult word. “Yes, cholesterol,” Chloe repeated. “What is it?” I was wondering about that, too, so I was happy my sister had asked. “Cholesterol is a waxy, fatlike substance made in the liver and other cells, and found in foods like eggs and meat,” Doc Albert explained. “Our body needs cholesterol to work properly, but if we get too much cholesterol it can clog up our arteries and make it harder for our heart to pump blood.” I thought about my eating habits and all the times I helped Chloe finish her dinner. Then I thought about my favorite foods, Vanilla Woofers, pupsicles, popcorn, puparoni pizza, bacon, ice cream, pudding pups, meat, cheese, eggs, the very thing Doc Albert said was filled with cholesterol. “Sure I have a hearty appetite, but I’m a busy guy,” I said to my doctor, trying to convince my parents and myself. “How many other black and tan wiener dogs from Kentucky do you know who write books and travel around the beautiful Bluegrass State with their wiener dog sister and Mom and Dad? Have you ever met another dachshund who spends his days in schools and libraries talking to children and adults about keeping a positive attitude, being respectful and working hard to achieve their goals?” “I work hard and I need my strength to keep going. I need food to run just like a car needs gasoline to run,” I said, proud of my point, hoping it didn’t come off as disrespectful. “That’s a great point,” Doc Albert said. “But would you fill your car up with apple juice or water?” “Of course not!” I answered as we all laughed. “It wouldn’t run, silly.” “Well, the food you are putting in your body is just like filling your car up with apple juice. It might fill the tank, but you won’t go anywhere,” Doc explained. As valid as I thought my argument was, Doc Albert made a much stronger point. “Sit tight while I get your prescriptions ready, pups,” Doc ordered as she left the exam room. I hoped the medicine wasn’t some nasty, smelly stuff that made me hold my nose so I could swallow it. Doc Albert returned carrying a large brown cardboard box, securely taped, that was bigger than Chloe and me. “Here you go, pups,” Doc said as she handed the box to Dad. The top of the box read “Rx for Woody and Chloe. Take as directed.” “What does Rx mean?” I asked, trying to pronounce the word that didn’t have a vowel in the middle of it. “Rx is an abbreviation for medical prescription,” Mom explained. “And you know what a prescription is. It’s a recipe for getting well.” I didn’t know what was in the box, but one thing was for sure. It was the biggest recipe I had ever seen.

Stay tuned next week for chapter 2.

A ‘Hair-Raising’ Experience

Take out a piece of paper and write a short essay on the following writing prompt.

When is the last time you got your hair cut? Write a narrative about the worst hair cut you have ever had. How long was your hair originally? How much hair was cut off? How did you feel about the hair cut? Why do you think you ended up with this hair cut? Was it a lack of communication or something else?

1. Woody and Chloe love to play games. One of their favorites is The Alphabet Game. As a class, play The Alphabet Game. Go around the room and have each person name a food. It can be healthy food or junk food. Start with A and go straight through Z. In the spirit of friendly competition, can your class complete The Alphabet Game in 3 minutes? Have one person make a list of the healthy foods named and another person list the junk foods.

2. Look through your local newspaper and see if there are any advertisements for doctors or veterinarians. If so, tally how many you found.

3. Woody and Chloe learned that cholesterol was produced from fatty foods like bacon and cheese. Name 5 other fatty foods. How many of the 5 you named have you eaten recently or plan to eat this past week?

What foods could you eat instead of the fatty ones?

4. Doc Albert told Woody a car wouldn’t run without gas. What is the current cost of gasoline in your town? Let’s pretend you have a car that holds 20 gallons of gas, and your car was completely empty. Based on the price of gas in your town, how much money would it take to fill up your car? If your car gets 22 miles per gallon how far can you go on 20 gallons?

5. The pups learned the Rx is an abbreviation for prescription. What are some abbreviations you use when you are writing? Search the Classified section of the newspaper for more abbreviations. Choose one ad with a couple abbreviations and write out the ad by spelling the full word instead of the abbreviation.

6. The pups also learned that a prescription is a recipe to get well. Search a cookbook or go online and find a recipe you think Woody and Chloe might like. Remember, they are trying to improve their eating habits so make sure it is a low-fat, healthy snack. Email the recipe to woody@thewoodybooks.com

7. What do you think the Rx box contains? Email Woody your prediction woody@thewoodybooks.com. Check your email for his reply. Also, log on to www.thewoodybooks.com and read Woody’s blog. You may see your emails on his blog.

8. Cut out Chapter 1 and paste it in your Unleashed scrapbook. Don’t have a scrapbook? Contact your local newspaper or kjohnson@herald-leader.com.

9. Look at the illustration in chapter one. Write a paragraph about what you see. Read aloud to someone.

10. Hear Woody read every Unleashed chapter. Just visit Woody’s online doghouse at www.thewoodybooks.com or go to www.kypress.com.

Sunday and Wednesday Night Service: 6:30 p.m.

The Kingsmen will be in concert on Sunday, Sept. 23 at 6:30 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Egypt Christian Church was organized in 1876. The church held its first service on April 1, 1876.
The first addition to the church was constructed in 1963. In August of 1998 the church parsonage was constructed on the church property. Three new Sunday School rooms and a baptistry were added in the fall in 2000. This addition did not meet the needs of the church and another construction project began in March 2002 and finished that July.

A tornado did extensive damage to the church in March 1997. The damage left the church unstable and a new sanctuary was finished by Oct. 23, 2005.

Public Record Notice

The Adair County Community Voice publishes all grand jury indictments, drug and alcohol related traffic, misdemeanors, felonies, circuit-criminal cases and shock probations.

The year of offense on each charge listed in Circuit and District Court is listed in parenthesis after all of the charges have been listed.

Also, all land transfers, occupational licenses, marriages, divorces filed and restaurant and food service/retail inspections are published.

Call 384-9454 for the following requests: A divorce is published when it is filed. Withdrawn divorces will be published at the petitioner's request.

The Voice makes every effort to publish court records accurately. However, if you feel an error has been made, contact our office at 384-9454.
